

WALKING FOOTBALL GETS COMPETITIVE

AFTER last weekend's successful mini tournament which took place at Calahonda amid strict ante Covid restrictions and regulations, three clubs have met and decided to set up a mini league which will see the teams play each other once taking them up to the

Malaga (formerly Smiles) will put out three teams, Benahavis two, with Aston Viñuela one team. They hope this will keep their players fit and also giving them match practice in a friendly but competitive manner, keeping the players ready for the new season scheduled to commence in January.

Getting the Mini League underway are two teams who disappointed at last week's tournament and will be all out to prove it was a settling in experience for them and they hope on Saturday October 3, Malaga 'A' v Aston Viñuela WFC, Kick off 1pm will be different.

Good news is that BAHA Irish Whiskey producers were so impressed with the organising and enthusiasm shown by the players and organisers that they offered to sponsor the mini league. It's believed that BAHA will invest a three figure sum into the venture and donate a gift of a bottle of BAHA whiskey to each player of the league winning team.

Meanwhile still on sponsorship the South of Spain Walking Football League are still in talks with several sponsors who are keen to sponsor the SSWFA league starting in the New Year.

The Management Committee are in agreement that it is important to get what is best for the league while keeping in mind sponsors look for publicity by way of shirt logos, company names and media publicity. These all have to be taken into account by both parties when negotiating a deal. SSWFL hope to make an announcement next week.

Local businesses support the Walking Football League... The Walking Football League supports local businesses.

The Cornish Bakehouse were so impressed with the preparation and organising of last Saturday's tournament they have agreed to sponsor the Cornish Bakehouse Invitational which will take place at the Finca on Saturday November 7 starting at 12 noon. They are donating a three figure sum and will provide a trophy and prize for the winners.

Also providing local support are of course the Euro Weekly News, who are sponsoring the 2019 League Cup Final which was postponed due to Covid. It will now take place at the Finca on Saturday October 17 kick off 3pm.
